Judd Scott Russell, 25, pleaded not guilty in the death of a 10-year-old girl who was shot outside her northern California home in May, according to the San Jose Mercury News. He was also charged with two misdemeanour gun offences. Deputy district attorney John Combs said last month that Scott Russell shot the girl and her father, Doni Jones, 41, on the porch of the family's home. Authorities said Jones had been granted a restraining order against Scott Russell at the time. The girl's mother and a nephew, whom she was babysitting, were not hurt. Prosecutors said Scott Russell had not filed a police report before the shooting and hadn't attended counselling sessions. He was arrested after the shooting, and has been held in jail without bail. If convicted, he could face up to 50 years to life in prison. • This article was amended on 25 January 2013. The original headline said that Scott Russell, 25, had been charged with murder. This has been corrected to say that he has pleaded not guilty to murder.(CNN) -- Deputies have arrested a Georgia man accused of killing a woman whose severed head was posted on a Web site he created. Aurora Dawn Allen was found dead
