Everyone is welcome to express their opinion through art, music, movies, books, clothing, fashion, body piercings, hair styles and everything else. Some people are even born with their mind in the ideal shape for an ideal Citizen. But most Citizens are also fanatics of the great wall of social media. They read the news and post the news for everyone to see, they post selfies and videos, and they vote with their thumbs for political parties. Rylos is where the truth is. And it is in order to keep the truth and the Citizens from expressing themselves, the Bureau of Truth and Justice created a new surveillance program. Citizens must show their ID to the scanner in front of the computer or smartphone. Every Citizen is being observed by a computer software that can recognize their unique thumb print. The Citizens realize that there will be an investigation on them, they are all waiting for the report to see what they have done. The Citizens are now complaining about what the Bureau of Truth and Justice have done. They fear that their thumb prints will be stored and made available to others. To avoid this, the Bureau of Truth and Justice develop a software which makes a 'finger print' from the true shape of the thumb. Every time the Citizen touches their thumb, the software modifies the data in such a way that they no longer contain the information that would allow others to identify them. The citizens say they love to express themselves, to express their opinions and to engage in all sorts of activities. However, they are afraid of the Bureau of Truth and Justice. Will they revolt? Did you know that the Story Generator for Starship EVO 2 can make you a story for free? It can be done in three steps: Starfleetman. You are the captain of a starship that is on the planet "Rylos". You are suddenly contacted by a Federation base,
